

About the Clinic

The SWOP Community Activism Law Clinic is a free, full-service legal clinic for individuals involved in sex work. It provides a wide-range of services from advice and community legal education to representation. All legal services, including full representation, are completely free of charge to clients.

The Community Activism Law Alliance ("CALA") is a nonprofit that brings legal services to the most disadvantaged.

We use an innovative model, community activism lawyering, to help those overlooked or turned away by other organizations, as well as to support and strengthen grassroots organizations.

CALA pursues its objectives through activism law clinics: in the communities they serve, in collaboration with partner community organizations.

All services are free of charge.

Sex Workers Outreach Project Chicago (SWOP-Chicago) is an organization dedicated to improving the lives of current and former sex workers in the Chicago area, on and off of the job. SWOP-Chicago is composed of current and former sex workers—including prostitutes, professional dominants, porn actors, strippers, and sex educators and more—and our academic and activist allies, working together to ensure that sex workers are allowed healthy and fulfilling labor and lives.

SWOP-Chicago's work is divided between the following:

- ♥ Outreach: providing access to a supportive network of resources and workers.
- ♥ Education: bringing the voices of sex workers to academics, activists, and the general public.
- ♥ Advocacy: changing the legal system that puts us at risk for violence and coercion.
